THE SHOW

History

The Show was started in 2001 in conjunction with the Denver Nuggets to honor the top 40 student-athletes in basketball at the end of the season in an all-star game. In 2016, it was taken over by Biokats Sports Network to continue the tradition. Alumni from The show include:

Rodney Billups – University of Denver, College Coach
Reggie Jackson – Boston College, Detroit Pistons
Derek White – University of Colorado, San Antonio Spurs
Calais Campbell – University of Miami, Arizona Cardinals
Nick Fazekas – University of Nevada, Boston Celtics
Abby Waner – Duke University, USA Basketball
Evan Unrau – University of Missouri, Washington Mystics
Shae Kelly – University of Minnesota, Minnesota Lynx

How are players selected

The players for The Show are selected by the media in the state of Colorado that cover preps athletics. Each media member submits his/her nominations and then select the Top 20 players for each game from the final nominations list.

In 2017, The 1A-3A Top 20 game was introduced

In 2018, The Top 40 and Top Senior Game was introduced

In 2019, The Junior Show was brought back

DO YOU WANT TO PLAY COLLEGE BASKETBALL OR ANY OTHER SPORT?

At Biokats Sports Network, we are starting a new educational program called “The Recruiting Seminar”. This program is designed to:

- Educate you on the process of playing in college
- Provide insights on gaining college scholarship
- Provide Resources
- Answer many of the confusing questions around the recruiting process

It's about learning the ins-outs of the college recruiting, scholarships and playing college athletics. We have been helping athletes since 2003 through our events to play college athletics.
